WILLARD REFUSES TO FIGHT LANGFORD

AGE OF CHAMPION DISPUTED

KEY WEST, Fla., April 8.—Sam Langford of Boston and other negro heavyweights will never have a chance to meet Jess Willard for the championship of the world. Willard and his manager, Tom Jones, have drawn the color line.

The second interesting development today concerning the new champion is the statement from Cleveland that Willard, instead of being twenty-eight years old, is thirty-three. Birth and marriage records reveal the fact that Jess was born December 29, 1881, in Pottawatomie County, Kan., and on March 13, 1907, when he married Miss Hattie Evans at Leavenworth, Kan., he gave his age to Probate Judge Johnson as twenty-five years.

The new title holder "will never fight another negro and will not meet joke fighters."

Jones is quoted as saying, just as Willard reached Key West, Fla., on his journey home:

After Jess has completed his touring and has had a rest he will be ready to defend the title

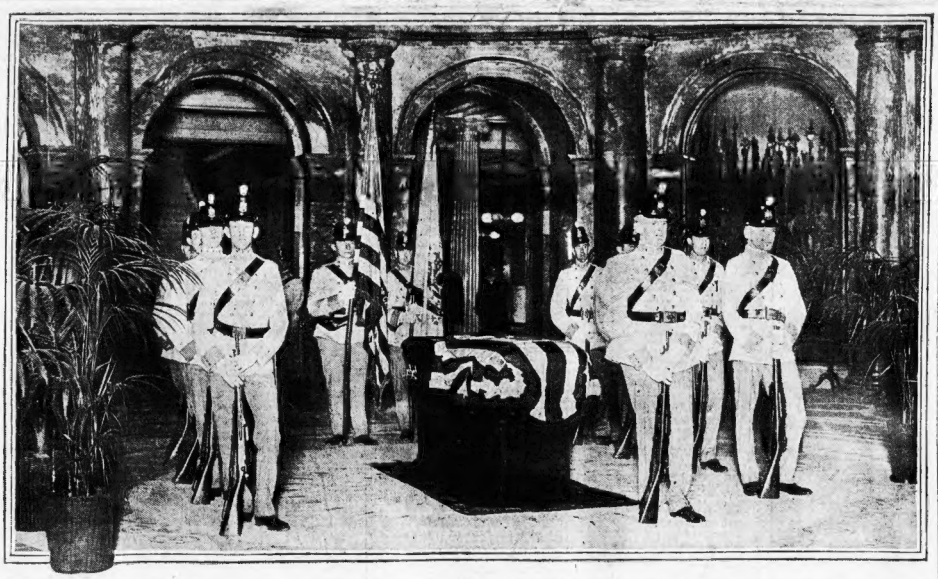
BODY OF FORMER GOVERNOR GUILD LYING IN STATE IN THE HALL OF FLAGS



Thousands visited the State House today to pay tribute at the former Governor's bier. It rested amid a guard of honor composed of First Corps Cadets, surrounded by tattered battle flags.

Public tribute was paid today to the memory of Curtis Guild.

Attended by impressive military escort, the body of the former Governor and recent ambassador to the Imperial Court of Russia lay in state throughout the day in the Hall of Flags at the State House, where for three years he had presided over the destinies of the State.

Prominent men in public life marched in solemn procession through the historic Hall of Flags, where the body lay in public view, surrounded by the shrunnel-torn flags.

Following the heads of State departments, there came the messengers, pages and other State House attendants who were employed in their various callings during the administrations of Governor Guild.

Then came the public to pay last honor at the bier. Men, women and children—several thousands of them—from every walk of life—slowly passed the body of the man beloved by them as private citizen and admired as statesman.

The body lay in state from 10:30 o'clock this forenoon until 4 o'clock this afternoon. Military escort was stationed in the Hall of Flags. The guard of honor was assigned by Captain Rolfen B. Perkins from the First Corps Cadets, the Governor's body guard. Captain Perkins was a member of Governor Guild's staff by detail from the line.

A special detail of police officers, commanded by Lieutenant Hyland of the City Hall avenue station, were on duty at the State House.

While Mrs. Guild desired an unostentatious funeral, she deferred to the suggestion of Governor Walsh, that the people of Massachusetts desired to manifest their regard for their former Chief Executive. Public tribute of this nature to a Governor was last paid in 1896, when Governor

MEDFORD CLERK IS GUILTY

Allston F. Joyce, former city clerk of Medford, sixty-two years old, and broken in spirit, pleaded guilty today in the Middlesex Superior Criminal Court at East Cambridge, to larceny of Medford city money, and was sentenced by Judge Sisk to three years in the House of Correction.

The sentence seemed to stagger Joyce, whose pallor grew to sheet-like whiteness. He trembled and was almost in collapse.

Joyce had been indicted in twenty-four counts, charging larcenies amounting to $8,138.84. He pleaded guilty to three of the counts, and this plea was accepted by District Corcoran.

Associate Justice E. Leroy Sweetser of Malden District Court, counsel for Joyce, urged leniency in sentence on account of Joyce's age, his plea of guilty and his partial restitution of the stolen money, which had reduced him to penury.

After the hearing District Attorney Corcoran sharply criticised Medford city bookkeeping, saying:

"Joyce's plea was accepted because

ST. MIHIEL OBJECTIVE OF ALLIES

LONDON, April 8.—The greatest battle in the western field of war since the British won their victory at Neuve Chapelle is today in progress in the Woevre district of France between the Meuse and Moselle rivers.

According to official reports from both Berlin and Paris the loss of life has been enormous. The French, who have massed 200,000 troops in this region, are charging the German lines with reckless impetus. The Germans, reinforced by 120,000 fresh troops, are stubbornly meeting the attack.

Thousands have been killed on both sides, according to the reports.

Destroyer Damaged by Turkish Shells

CONSTANTINOPLE, via Berlin, April 8.—A torpedo boat destroyer, as well as a cruiser, was damaged by Turkish shells when a squadron of the Anglo-French fleet bombarded the Turkish works at the western entrance of the Dardanelles Sunday, it was officially announced today.

Exposition Profits $85,410 for 30 Days

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8—Exclusive of its season ticket rents, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition showed a net profit of $85,410.64 above all operating and maintenance expenses for the first thirty days of its operation.

NEXT SUNDAY WILL BE EASTER, ONCE REMOVED

It was suggested yesterday, in the form of a motion—and duly put and carried unanimously—that we wipe out last Sunday entirely and proceed to do it over again.

Hence,—

Therefore,—

Sunday next, the eleventh day of April, 1915, will be observed throughout this jurisdiction as Easter Sunday, once removed. Get out your new French bonnets and be ready!

What happened to the regular Easter—and turned it into Nor'easter—was explained today at the Weather Bureau. It was all very simple. It seems that a little apprentice weather-mixer, a boy of the name of Hermann, residing with his parents at Revere,

If You Want to Sell Your Auto Get a Good Price for It

An automobile that has been used, but is in good condition, commands a fair price at any time.

Plenty of men are on the lookout for cars at slightly reduced prices.

But you must locate them. The best, surest and quickest way is to realize the news broadcast that you have a car for sale.

The Boston AMERICAN circulates among a class of people with money to buy. Put an ad in the classified section under the heading "Used Cars and Accessories," telling in a simple and direct manner what your proposition is.

Mention the name of the car and say what year it was made. How many miles it has been run and the condition it is in are also important.

Purchasers are quickly attracted through advertising in the AMERICAN. Out of those whose attention is secured you can surely find a customer and make a sale.

When you have the ad ready leave it with any of the AMERICAN'S Want Ad Stations, the Branch Office at 264 Washington Street, Main Office at 80 Summer Street, or restitution had been made in part, because prosecution of some of the shortage was barred by the statute of limitations and because another part of the shortage is actually a civil matter and not criminal. Willingness of the defendant to plead guilty saved the expense of a long trial. In consideration of these things and of his age I was willing toy accept his plea.

"Another thing that influenced me was the fact that a large portion of this shortage was due to the temptation offered a weak man by the inadequate and inefficient system of bookkeeping of the city of Medford and the carelessness and negligence of persons whose duty it was to supervise the actions of the defendant and who failed to do so. By that I mean the cemetery trustees."

Cemetery funds in the city's charge were among the moneys covered in the indictment counts.

HORACE S. BACON, LOWELL, SUICIDE

LOWELL, April 8.—Horace S. Bacon, a wealthy attorney whose time was mainly given to taking care of his own and his wife's extensive properties, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the head at his home, No. 167 Stevens street. He had suffered for the past few months from nervous trouble which had become acute, although his friends did not suspect, from his appearance, that he was under such a mental strain. He leaves a wife and two children.

At 6 o'clock Mrs. Bacon heard a shot from her husband's chamber. She found him dead on the floor, with the revolver telling the story of self-destruction. Medical Examiner Joseph E. Meigs pronounced the case suicide.

Mr. Bacon was forty-six years old and high in the Masonic order. Seven years ago he was appointed Register of Deeds for Northern Middlesex by the county commissioners, to fill an unexpired term. He was defeated for election to the new term by William Purcell.

SUN SPOTTED ON NORTHWEST RIM

Get out your smoked glass and have a look at the sun spots

Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, Winchester's distinguished astronomer, famed the world over as the discoverer of Metcalf's comet, reports today that just now there is a group of spots—two large ones and about twenty-three smaller—on the northwest rim of the sun, plainly visible to the naked eye through smoked glass.

Mr. Metcalf says he thinks the sun spots are sun storms and weather dopesters say that these nor'west sun storms may have had something to do with the unseasonable northeaster last Saturday.

"These sun spots are really visible to the naked eye through smoked glass, though, of course, much plainly through opera glasses," said the astronomer. "It is a group of spots consisting of two fairly large spots and about twenty-three smaller ones, all on the northwest part of the sun.

"In eleven-year periods the spots increase. We are now getting near the spot maximum. The present group is a remarkable one. Very rarely are the spots big enough to be seen by the unaided eye. The larger spots are perhaps fifteen or twenty times the size of the earth. These spots are thought to be caused by storms on the sun."

Death for Damaging Wires in Belgium

AMSTERDAM, April 8.—The German Governor-General of Belgium has issued a notice that any one causing damage to telegraph, telephone of railway lines will be tried before a court-martial. The trespassers, if convicted, will be sentenced to death. If the person causing the damage is not arrested, the community in which the damage is done will be rigorously dealt with.

EASTER PARADE ON SUNDAY

missed his footing last Saturday on the narrow steel platform which circles the great weather vats, upset a diurnal variation and spilled a whole mess of isothermals, meteorology and aneroids all over the synoptic charts.

This caused the snow and the high winds, with some profanity and a few tears.

The odor was still perceptible today in the Federal building but painters and decorators were at work and Mr. Smith hopes to have the sunshinola ready in an hour or two.

PLEADS FOR MERCY.

"But say," said Smith, "I do hope the AMERICAN isn't going to swing on us on account of Sunday. Accidents are bound to happen!

"Why not give a fellow a chance? Boy and man I've been here now for twenty years. Never before did I fail to have the sun a-dancing on the kitchen floor on Easter morn. It strikes me that this is some record wherefore I ask the Boston public to forget the fact that we spilled the beans last Sunday and give us a chance.

"Tell you what I'll do. We've had the church exercises, and we are all satisfied that on the church end, everything went off like clockwork. Awrite; now, what do you say if I fix up a fine young mixture of June and August, for next Sunday, and let everybody come out in his or her new Sunday-go-to-meetin's and just parade 'round and enjoy the sunshine."

Mr. Simth was told that this will do very well indeed, and so these few words are conspicuously printed to spread the glad tidings.

Therefore, postponed one week because of the accident referred to, the open-air exercises connected with Easter will be celebrated on Sunday next.

Everybody in New England will, of course, begin the day by going to church—there has always got to be some "catch" to these whimsies, as the fellow said—and we'll all put on our regimentals, and the way we'll sashay around Tremont and Boylston streets and Massave, etc., my sakes alive! will be enough to kill.

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT.

Inquiry around at the big stores and the smart little shops of Boston reveals the fact that the plan to celebrate the outdoor side of Easter NEXT Sunday is quite general. Hundreds of Bostonians have dropped in at their favorite shops this week to add to their Spring furnishings and to say that, after all, they are glad the outdoor exercises WERE postponed.

And so, neighbors, take notice!
Easter outdoor exercises—
Here, there, and everywhere—
In the sunshine made and provided as aforesaid.
Remember, NEXT Sunday.

GREAT LOSSES IN BIG BATTLE

Today's official communique, issued in Paris, says the French have made further progress in their offensive movement, while the Berlin War Office says "the French losses along their entire front are enormous without their having obtained the slightest success."

Terrific artillery duels between the allies and the Germans are taking place in Belgium and great activity is reported in the valley of the Aisne. East of Rheims the French have maintained their gains, Paris reports, against furious German counter attacks.

Night and day attacks are being made against the German lines stretching from the northern part of the Argonne forest to St. Mihiel and the forest of Leprete north of Pont-a-Mousson.

Military men here predict that the Germans will be driven out of St. Mihiel, their only foothold on the western bank of the Meuse, south of Verdun, within the next ten days.

The recapture of St. Mihiel by the allies would be of tremendous importance to them, as it would mean a withdrawal of the German salient which makes a deep wedge in the French lines, protecting from attack the great German fortress of Metz, in Lorraine, and constituting a standing menace to the equally important French fortress of Verdun.

METZ FRENCH OBJECTIVE.

If General Joffre's artillery can destroy the German lines of supplies to the north of St. Mihiel, retreat becomes imperative for the Kaiser's forces, and their line would probably be immediately straightened between Fajemuilles and Fresnes, or the German General Staff might decide to make their line from Arnaville to Etain.

Behind Arnaville the German force is supported by the Metz forts. This region and that of Alsace will now engage General Joffre's best efforts. It is evident, and heavy continuous fighting will be necessary. River valleys, high plateaus, spurs and spurs of the Vosges all enter into the difficulties before the French.

Many military observers see in the new French offensive in the Woevre evidence of a determined campaign for the capture of Metz.

Today's official report of the German War Office follows:

"Fighting between the Meuse and Moselle continues. All French attacks at the following points in the Woevre plain have failed: On Combres heights, near Selouse forest, north of St. Mihiel in Ailly forest, near the forest lying west of Apremont, north of St. Mihiel in Ailly forest, near the forest lying west of Apremont, north of Flirey and west of and in Priest Wald (La Pretre) forest.

"The French losses along their entire front are enormous without their having obtained the slightest success.

"A hostile aviator, flying from Paris, was forced to land in our lines and was taken prisoner. He said that nothing was known in Paris about the French losses in the battles that have taken place in the Champagne district.

"In the eastern theatre of war there are no important operations to report. Bad weather and bad roads make movements almost impossible."

The text of this afternoon's Paris communique follows:

"There have been conflicts of artillery in Belgium, in the valley of the Aisne and to the east of Rheims.

"The results obtained between the Meuse and the Moselle and reported yesterday evening are confirmed.

"The rains of the last few days have greatly softened the soil in the Woevre region, and this has rendered the movement of artillery difficult and has also tended to prevent the explosion of projectiles.

300 MEN MOWED DOWN.

"Our troops have made good the gains achieved last evening. We have maintained all our new advanced positions in spite of counter attacks of extraordinary intensity.

"At Eparges the latest German counter attack was notably violent. It was made by a regiment and a half, but was completely repulsed. The Germans suffered enormous losses, the bodies of their troops literally covering the ground. Three hundred men who had for a moment been able to advance beyond the German battlefront were mowed down by our machine guns and not a single one of them escaped.

"In the Bruis woods we have captured a German trench.

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE TO GUILD

Frederick T. Greenhalge died in office.

The body was escorted from the home on Marlboro street by a military escort headed by Troop A, First Squadron of Cavalry, known as the National Lancers, an old command of the late governor's. Captain John Kenny commanded the escort.

A section from Battery A, First Field Artillery, M. V. M., immediately preceded the caisson on which the body reposed, the casket decorated with an American flag. The body bearers were eight sergeants detailed by Colonel Warren E. Sweetser from the Sixth Infantry, M. V. M., in which Governor Guild saw his first military service as a United States volunteer in the Spanish war, serving for a time as adjutant until he was taken by General Fitz Hugh Lee to be an inspector-general on his staff.

TRIBUTE ON STREETS.

As the body passed through Marlboro, Arlington and Beacon streets to the State House, thousands of people lined the route. Every man standing with heads uncovered as the caisson passed. A musician from the Sixth Infantry announced the coming of the cortege. Two regimental color-bearers and a sergeant-major added to the military escort.

The First Corps Cadets constituted the vanguard of the escort.

As a mark of tribute to the memory of Governor Guild, the sessions of both branches of the Legislature were omitted.

Adjutant-General Charles H. Cole of the Massachusetts militia was in charge of the arrangements.

At 4.30 o'clock this afternoon the body will be escorted again to the home at No. 124 Marlboro street.

Plans for the funeral tomorrow have been completed.

The pallbearers will include George H. Lyman, former collector of the port and a college friend; Henry Parkman, who was affiliated with Mr. Guild in his earliest political experiences; Colonel William D. Sohier, chairman of the Highway Commission and a very close friend; Arthur S. Johnson, a cousin of Mrs. Guild; J. Randolph Coolidge, a cousin of Mrs. Guild; Dr. Robert W. Lovett, the college roommate of Mr. Guild; Samuel W. McCall, with whom the late Governor was on the closest personal and political terms; George A. Draper, a close friend for many years; former Lieutenant-Governor Louis A. Frothingham, associated for many years with Mr. Guild; Dana Malone, former Attorney-General and intimate friend; Howard Elliott, president of the New Haven Railroad, and classmate; former Collector Edwin U. Curtis and Thomas Russell. Former President Taft has also been requested to be a pallbearer, but it is not known as yet whether he can accept.

PLANS FOR FUNERAL.

The body bearers will be non-commissioned officers of the Sixth Massachusetts Infantry. The National Lancers will act as escort from the house at No. 124 Marlboro street to the church. It has not yet been fully decided whether there will be an escort from the church to Forest Hills Cemetery, where the burial is to take place in the family lot.

The Apollo Club, of which he was an associate member, and of which Courtenay Guild has been president for the past eleven years, will chant "Still, still with Thee" and sing the two favorite hymns of General Guild. They are "Jerusalem, the Golden," and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." On one occasion General Guild expressed the wish that these hymns be sung at his funeral.

MAYOR'S CENSOR TO INSPECT FILM

Mayor Curley, following a hearing granted on request of the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, declared that he would not interfere with the initial production of the film show, "The Birth of a Nation."

"I shall allow the play to proceed and the municipal censor and a representative of the police commissioner may pass upon its merits," said the Mayor.

Many in the crowd of more than two hundred people, mostly colored, hissed at the name of President Wilson was mentioned. The incident occurred as Attorney F. Cusick, counsel for the theatre where the film is to be shown, told of its having been seen and approved by the President and his Cabinet at the White House.

Among those who appeared in favor of the petition were Woodfall Storer, president of the association, Dr. Alexander Mann, pastor of Trinity Church; Joseph P. Loud, a Boston architect; Dr. Francis Hewley, the Rev. M. W. Thornton and the Equal Rights League; B. H. Wilson and Monro Trotter.

Butler Wilson, counsel for the association, declared the play tends to excite hatred for the race.

Mr. Cusick, counsel for the theatre, said that the play is based only upon historical fact, and that there is no attempt made to ridicule the colored race. He said the National Board of Censors had endorsed the play, and that there are as many white villains in the play as there are black.

T. R. Gives a Four-Word Interview on 'His' Politics

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—"That's a fool question," snapped Colonel Roosevelt, when asked on his arrival here, to express an opinion on the chances of the Progressives returning to the Republican fold.

As he proceeded to a hotel he alternately growled and snapped back at the reporters accompanying him and bowed and tipped his hat to friends who recognized him. Here's the story on the trip from the station:

(To the crowd) "Be right back."

(To the reporters) "That's a fool question."

(To the crowd) "This is bully; delighted."

(To the reporters) "Understand me? That's a fool question to ask now."

REPORT CLEARY'S FUNDS ARE SHORT

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y., April 8.—Search is being made for William T. Cleary, the former town clerk, who was acquitted on the charge of slaying his son-in-law, Eugene M. Newman, following the announcement at the State comptroller's office, Albany, that his accounts are badly tangled. Cleary is said to have disappeared.

Investigators working under Comptroller Travis report that much of the poor fund, which was dispensed partly by Cleary, could not be accounted for. Many books, records and checkbooks which would aid in straightening out the financial affairs of the town have disappeared it is said.

Josiah Feiler, a supervisor, at Warren Bamley, an overseer of the poor, both of whom worked with Cleary, signed waivers of immunity prior to testifying before the comptroller's inquisitors.

Examination of Cleary's account at the National Bank of Haverstraw showed that he deposited $7,764 in 1912 and $10,162 in 1913. His salary as town clerk during this time was about $600 a year.

What shortage exists, or what amount, if any, has been misapplied, has not been determined by the comptroller.

Harvard Leaders Old Clothes Men

Many of the Harvard collectors of "the class" this week are men prominent in undergraduate life. Henry L. F. Kreger, who has the Apley court district, is stroking the varsity crew. He is a Phi Beta Kappa man. Greenough Townsend and Elmer Wasmmaker of the hockey seven are another pair hard at work. Tuffnell, the cross country captain, is in charge of the collection at Hampden Hall. Ulysses Grant, 4th, is on the job on the Gold Coast.

Belgian Heir a Soldier 14, Fights for Kingdom

Entrance of the boy Crown Prince into the army has greatly cheered the Belgian soldiers. Like his heroic father, the youth is determined to devote his life toward freeing his country. His mother did not attempt to dissuade him from his purpose.

Leopold, Duke of Brabant and Crown Prince of Belgium, eldest son of King Albert, although but fourteen years old, has entered the Belgian army in the rank assigned to him by birth. The Prince, who is exceptionally handsome and grave in demeanor, is determined to stand with his father's brave soldiers wherever the fighting is fiercest.

The entrance of the young scion of royalty into their torn and scarred ranks has added new courage to the Belgian soldiers, who believe the Crown Prince is the prototype of his father and will, like him, set an example to royal houses by his bravery on the battlefield.

The young Prince has pleaded with his father for some time to be allowed to take his place in the army before reaching the customary age, owing to the extraordinary conditions which have involved his country. His mother, formerly a Bavarian Princess, gave her consent willingly, though it is reported she wept bitterly.

ARGUE HARVESTER DISSOLUTION SUIT

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Arguments in the government's dissolution suit against the International Harvester Company are being made today before the Supreme Court.

The suit was begun three years ago. More than 1,200 witnesses were heard by the lower court, which eventually held that the company was a combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and directed its dissolution into at least three equal and independent organizations.

Denying the government's construction of the law, and insisting that the case should be tried out along the lines of the petition, John P. Wilson, one of the attorneys for the company, declared the business of the company during the ten years of its existence before the suit was brought showed that two main purposes prompted its organization. These were to develop the foreign trade and to establish an all-year round selling organization.

To accomplish this, he said, great credit and a big organization was needed, and was obtained by the combining of the five leading manufacturers of harvester machinery in 1902. As to the domestic trade, he said, the company was selling many million dollars' worth less than during the first year of its existence.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity —acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which irritate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize this acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advertisement.

BELLOC SEES TURNING POINT OF THE WAR BY EARLY SUMMER

By HILAIRE BELLOC,
Foremost Military Writer in Europe.

There is all the difference in the world between saying that the critical moment in this war should arrive near such and such a period and naming that period as "the end" of hostilities. There has been in every military operation in history a point not always exactly defined, but lying within fairly narrow limits, after which the end was in sight; but how long the journey would take before that end was actually reached depends upon many factors.

All that I am trying to do in these notes is to gauge the critical moment, which, if it is successfully passed, will put the end of the war in sight.

On the side of the Germans we have three elements to consider, always excluding the unknown chances of neutrals joining in. These three elements are: what Germany has to put forward of trained and equiped men and when; what Austria Hungary and what Turkey.

GERMANY'S RESERVE POWER.

Germany, over and above the men she trained and equipped for the first efforts of the war—her regular forces—commands a maximum reserve man-power of perhaps more than three millions and certainly not less than two millions and a half.

How many of this reserve has Germany already put into the field?

To judge that let us note that two considerable bodies of newly trained men, whether drafted into existing formations or forming new units, have already been noted, and their numbers roughly estimate in the field.

The first batch came in with the late Autumn of last year. The last batch have begun to appear with the more recent operations of the late Winter—and here let me add that I am revising and somewhat changing here upon later information earlier estimates of my own, which were based upon insufficient data.

We know again, that the number of men Germany can train at any one time is limited to a certain maximum. Her machinery of instructions including ground accommodations and instructors, permits her to produce in successive relays, batches of no more than 300,000 new soldiers, say every three months.

CRISIS IN EARLY SUMMER.

This calculation gives us much the same critical date—the early Summer—which we found in discussing the first factors. It is upon an examination of the reserve of man-power, and upon an examination of wastage in the early Summer that should provide the critical moment. After that moment the man-power of the Germans cannot be increased or recouped appreciably.

For Austria-Hungary we have data far less certain. Such vague and general indices as we have got may be put very briefly thus:

As the dual monarchy trained and armed originally a smaller proportion of its total population, a large margin remained theoretically available.

On the other hand, the dual monarchy had nothing like the organization for the rapid training of large masses of men in rotation that the German Empire had, and we are putting the figures high indeed if we allow a reserve yet to appear proportionately to the German reserve and if we admit a further 600,000 as available for Austria-Hungary at the same date.

WHEN TIDE WILL TURN.

To put the matter in the most general terms, it would seem that by the beginning of May at the earliest, by the end of June at the latest, and with increasing force in the interval between, the crisis of the war so far as reserves of power are concerned should be reached.

In that period something like a balance in men might well be established and the tide begin to turn.

Hospitals Bombarded Declare Russians

PETROGRAD, April 8.—German and Austrian aeroplanes have bombarded Russian military hospitals in Radom and Jaslo, it is stated in an official dispatch from Russian headquarters at Warsaw. Injuries were inflicted upon a number of wounded soldiers. Radow is in Russian Poland on the Galician frontier; Jaslo is thirty miles south of Tarnow in Galicia.

PRZEMYSL GUNS SHELL AUSTRIANS

PETROGRAD, April 8.—Austrian guns, captured by the Russians when Przemysl fell, are being turned against the Austro-German armies in the Carpathians. Great stores of captured guns and ammunition are being transported by the Russians to the Carpathian front, where a mighty conflict is raging over a 125-mile front.

Taking foothill after foothill on the Hungarian slopes of the Carpathians, the Russians are advancing slowly but surely, their attacks alternating between furious bombardments with mountain guns and smashing assaults with the cold steel.

The Russians are now fortifying the principal heights of the Beskid range, which they captured after a bloody struggle.

It is learned from official and unofficial reports from the front that the Austro-German armies in the Carpathian arena of operations have lost from 125,000 to 150,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners since the present campaign in the mountain ranges began.

The Russian losses have been very heavy, due to the fact that the men had to expose themselves to a raging fire in storming fortified Austrian positions.

In an official statement today the Russian War Office states that the German attempts to break the Russian line on the Roslovitza front have ceased.

The following report was issued: "German attacks in the region of Kongova and Rosanka have ceased. There have been no attacks in that district since March 27. The German exertions in that sphere were centred on with a view to breaking our front. They began about February 7 and for eight weeks they vainly tried to take our positions by assault. The German regimental operating in this region, in consequence of the enormous losses caused by our stubborn resistance, changed their composition three or four times.

"Recognizing the uselessness of further attacks, and alarmed by their heavy losses, the Germans finally abandoned their efforts to pierce our lines.

"On April 6 the Germans delivered an unsuccessful attack near Ludonowo, in the region of Suwalki, Poland. They were beaten back with heavy losses."

REPORT TRENT CEDED TO ITALY

PARIS, April 8.—That Austria and Italy have at last reached an agreement which will assure the continued neutrality of the latter country is the tenor of private advices received here from Rome.

According to these reports, pressure from the German government compelled the Austrian government to pledge itself to cede Trent to Italy.

At the same time Italy is still taking precautions for any eventuality. More than 12,500,000 bushels of wheat were imported into Italy during February and the first three weeks of March.

A dispatch from the Italian frontier states that the powerful Italian dreadnought fleet put to sea on Monday with secrecy as to their destination.

The warships departed suddenly from Spezia, Gaeta and Maddalena island. They later concentrated at Augusta, Sicily and Taranto and are therefore within a few hours of the Adriatic Sea.

Italy now has the finest navy in her history. It is headed by the powerful new dreadnoughts Conte Di Cavour, Leonardo Da Vinci and Guilio Cesare. Each of the ships is of 22,340 tons, and mounts thirteen twelve-inch guns in five centre-line turrets.

SULTAN CONFIDENT OF DARDANELLES

LONDON, April 8.—Interviews with Mehmed V., Sultan of Turkey, at Constantinople, and Field Marshal Von Der Goltz of the German army, deal today on the Dardanelles situation.

Mehmed V. declares the Dardanelles are impregnable and says he admires the Kaiser.

Von Der Goltz admits Turkey is cut off from all sources of supplies from her allies, and pronounces the Ottoman army the largest Turkey has ever called to the colors.

He says the issue cannot be predicted at present.

The Sultan said: "I am convinced the Dardanelles cannot be forced. The brave conduct of the Turkish troops in the recent operations against the straits permits me to conclude that although the allies bend every effort and use every means at their disposal they will be unable to achieve their purpose.

"It has been said that it was the factor of luck that made our victory on March 18 so complete and great, but we Turks have a saying: 'Lucky is infatuated with the efficient.'

"It appears very unjust to me that the allies want to force the Dardanelles and take Constantinople just to import foodstuffs from Russia. But our army and coast defence forces have shown their ability and willingness to do their duty."

Shots Brings Down German Aeroplane

AMSTERDAM, April 8.—A German aeroplane, which had bombarded Bergues, ten miles south of Dunkirk, in France, was shot to earth at Steenwoorde, in Belgium, today, and the aviator and observer were both killed. The aeroplane was on its way to make another aerial raid over Dunkirk when it was compelled by French and British high-angle guns to turn back. During the aerial bombardment of Bergues, a bomb fell upon a hospital killing two persons and injuring several others severely.

FLETCHER TAKES CHARGE OF EITEL

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 8.—Her raiding days over, the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, which has been interned until the end of the war, was formally turned over to the custody of the United States government today.

The work of removing the connecting rods from the engines so that the vessel could not steal away to sea will begin at once. The blocks of the cruiser's guns are also being removed to render them useless.

Captain Thierichens of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich spoke regretfully of his inability to put to sea.

"I feel that I have done my duty to my country," said he. "I did what I could, but I feel it would be folly to put to sea against overwhelming odds and thus sacrifice the lives of the brave men who did their work so well."

"During the past few days of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich's stay here the vigilance of the British warships off the coast was redoubled and the capture or destruction of the German ship was regarded as inevitable if she had put to sea.

Thierichens said the help he expected failed him. Recently a report came to the effect that the Von der Tann, one of Germany's most powerful battleships, had escaped the Allied cordon and was running across the Atlantic to help the Eitel win her way to liberty.

Details of the interment of the Eitel were settled at a conference on the battleship Wyoming, flagship of the Atlantic fleet, attended by Admiral Fletcher, Admiral Beatty, commander of the Norfolk Navy Yard; Admiral Helm and Norman Hamilton, collector of the port.

The Eitel will be kept at the Norfolk Navy Yard. The sailors will live on board, but the officers will be patrolled.

One of the first acts of Captain Thierichens was to surrender to Commander McCrocken of the naval tug Patuxent, the three Germans who joined his crew since the Eitel entered port. Admiral Helm said he had wired to the Navy Department at Washington, making a report of the developments up to date and asking for further instructions from Secretary Daniels.

The Eitel is the fifth German war vessel or auxiliary to be interned in the United States or its territories since the war began. Others are the cruiser Geier, at Honolulu; her tender, the Locksum, the auxiliary cruiser Cormoran, at Guam, and a collier at San Juan, Porto Rico. The latter was a tender for the cruiser Karlsruhe.

BRITISH HONOR IS ONLY LIQUOR BAN

LONDON, April 8.—There will be no mandate issued putting a ban on intoxicants throughout Great Britain and the colonies during the war. Despite the fact that the government has the authority to enact a law declaring nation-wide prohibition, no action will be taken by the cabinet. Instead of this an appeal will be issued to the people to abstain from using hard drinks while the war is in progress. This will put the English people on its honor and will have more effect than would an edict compelling the people to stop using intoxicants.

This statement made today by a high official who predicted that the people would follow the example of King George and other government leaders, and bar the use of intoxicating liquor in their homes while the country was in the throes of the greatest war in its history.

According to the Times several more cabinet meetings will be held, but the drink problem will be dealt with in this way:

Total prohibition had been ruled out as impracticable.

A prohibition on wines and spirits. Encouragement of lighter beers by compulsory reduction of their alcoholic strength.

Further restrictions in the sale of intoxicants in the military areas and in districts where munitions of war are being manufactured.

Meantime voluntary pledges to go on the "water wagon" are pouring in on Cabinet members. It is said 150,000 already have signed non-drinking pledges.

PATERSON, N. J., "FROST" A LIE, SAYS SUNDAY

PATERSON, April 5.—With the same fury that he assails Satan, Billy Sunday today flayed the reporters who painted his reception here as a frost.

He was eating breakfast and was clad in his old gray dressing gown when the newspaper delegation walked to the slaughter.

"They're saying your meetings are frosty and they all agree that the revival is a bit flat, Billy," declared a reporter. "How about it?"

Sunday upended the air with his fork. His other hand thumped the table so hard that the dishes rang. "It is a lie, that's all!" he shouted. "And the man who wrote those things are liars. That goes. I don't care who the man is, he is either a liar or a jackass. Take this from me, Paterson's there. I've never had better opening services."

What the correspondents have been a bit after," it was suggested.

"Slim nothing!" roared Sunday. "They are good collections. Anyway, I'm not worrying about the collections. That's up to Paterson."

CROWD SYMPATHETIC.

Stirred by criticism, Sunday unlimbered all his gospel artillery last night before the largest crowd yet before him in Paterson. For the first time his audience, which filled the big tabernacle to its uttermost capacity, was honestly sympathetic. He took as his topic the thirty-second chapter of Genesis. The twenty-eighth verse and based his sermon on the word "Power." He started out by a championship of the Jews.

"It makes my blood boil to hear a Jew spoken of as a 'Sheeney' or a Christ-killer," he cried.

"If you ever get to heaven it will be through the blood of a Jew.

"You find no Jews in the poorhouse. You don't see them as hoboes, weary willies, or shoveling bums, mooching for a handout or grafting a flip.

"Most of the fellows who get rich while they are forgetting God, think of the coupons they have to clip and holler, 'So long, God; I'll see you later.'

CHEERS FOR McKINLEY.

Sunday caused a furore by an allusion to "the sainted McKinley." He then mentioned "that 'giant of the West,' Theodore Roosevelt," and great applause resulted. He characterized William Jennings Bryan as a man as clean as a hound's tooth. There was a patter of applause. The name of Champ Clark was greeted similarly.

But oddly enough, when Sunday described Woodrow Wilson as "that babbling" the audience was as silent as though by pre-arrangement.

The first "frail bitter" here was Frank Flood of No. 45 Butler street, Paterson, who sank upon his knees in the tabernacle. Flood leads the way now. Sunday has not yet asked for "frail bitters."

In the middle of Sunday's vitriolic sermon Flood got down in the aisle and began to pray. Fred Seibert, superintendent of the tabernacle, ran to his aide. In a trice Seibert was praying with Flood. Half an hour later Flood was sent forth through the workshops of Paterson proselyting for the gospel that Sunday preaches.

In the midst of his sermon Sunday said:

"You Paterson bunch are the finest and most enthusiastic I've met for a long time, but you look as though you ate and slept too much while the town was going to Hell.

"Graft has a strangle hold on religion and morality. Free government can't continue if it is ruled by grafters, special privileges and the liquor interests. Political rottenness must stop or America will.

"Crime is a more prolific breeder of poverty than poverty crime. You can't legislate men and women out of vice."

HOPE FOR NEW YORK.

"There is hope even for that Godforsaken city of New York, that has been struck by a tidal wave of condemnation that has engulfed the city in blasphemy, vice and wickedness," the evangelist went on.

"There is hope that America will stop leading the world in murders. Think of it. In this country eighty people out of every million are murdered, and it's a 100 to 1 shot that no more than two people of that eighty ever get the rope or the rope around their necks.

"The people of this city must pray and the church must become an active, militant, fighting, yelling force of righteousness and purity in human, civic and social conduct.

"So back over the winding, sinless journey that brought you here. Notice how many chances you have had to shorten and straighten the course. You are standing on higher ground now than ever. You ought to be able to see farther. If you have never done any serious thinking before, do some now. Just as the children of Israel did when they plotted their tents on the banks of the Jordan."

Sunday threw the following hand grenades into the camp of old Satan during his sermon:

"When God Almighty got through he sent Finny, Savonarola, Smith, Evans, Luther and that bunch out to keep the ball rolling.

"If God's pleased why should you mutts knock?

"I've never aspired to be an intellectual preacher. I want to preach Jesus Christ to the guy from the factory and the mill so that he won't get brain fever trying to dope me out."

Farrar Offered $25,000 to Star in Film Feature

Geraldine Farrar, the Melrose opera star, has been offered $25,000 for three months' work as a moving picture leading woman, a New York report says today.

The offer is made by the corporation which has lured William Faversham with a $15,000 bait. It is proposed to use Miss Farrar as a pictured version of "Barbara Frietchie." If she accepts a gigantic spectacle will be staged in Frederick, Md., the corporation spending $100,000 in addition to salaries.

MRS. GARDNER WANTS ART GEMS

NEW YORK, April 8.—From one of the best known art experts in New York who is thoroughly conversant with the Morgan art collection, the AMERICAN learns that J. P. Morgan will sell the more important objects of his father's famous collection and present the minor articles to various museums.

Dealers expect to hear that Henry C. Frick is a buyer of some of the rare specimens. The out of town collectors seeking gems include P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, Mrs. John L. Gardner of Boston, Charles L. Freer of Detroit and Henry Walters of Baltimore.

The authority referred to says the Metropolitan Museum will receive some of the gifts including several statues and fragments of statues from ancient Greece and Rome.

Whitman Gives Pens to Supporters of Mothers' Pensions

ALBANY, N. Y., April 8.—"Believing as I do in the preservation and protection of the home I most heartily approve this measure," said Governor Whitman as he signed the widow mothers' pension bill for New York State.

He used seven pens. One was sent to Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, in recognition of her earnest advocacy of the act. A second was handed to Mrs William Einstein, a third to Miss Sophie Irene Loeb, a fourth to Mrs. Samuel S. Koenig, and a fifth to Mrs. William Grant Brown, all of whom have performed valiant service in the battle for child welfare waged for three legislative sessions.

The other two pens were presented to Senator William H. Hill and Assemblyman Martin G. McCue, who piloted the measure to an almost unanimous vote.

BUSINESS BLOCK IN ADAMS BURNS

ADAMS, April 8.—The four-story brick Collins block on Park street, the best business structure in the town, containing all of the community's four banks on its ground floor and the office of lawyers, physicians and other professional men above, was heavily damaged early today by the biggest fire in Adams' history.

A line-up of local banking business was threatened, but the bank officials secured temporary quarters so quickly that they were able to open on time to accommodate business men as usual.

Dr. W. W. Hurd, asleep in his suite on the second floor, was carried out, expelled from smoke, by the assistant Engineer Charles Champion, who broke into the suite. Members of the Pastime Club were driven out.

Guests at the Greylock Hotel, which is separated from the Collins block by a narrow street, dressed and made ready to get out.

The ground floor of the block is occupied by the South Adams Savings Bank, First National Bank, Greylock National Bank, Adams Cooperative Bank and F. L. Brown's dress store.

On the second floor are professional offices. The third floor is taken up by offices, quarters of the Pastime Club and lodge rooms. The Masonic lodges of the town have the top floor.

The fire was discovered at 3 o'clock. It is thought to have started on the third floor. The entire local department was called out and thirteen streams were played, taking every foot of hose on hand. The fire burned out the third and fourth floors. There is heavy smoke and water damage to the two lower floors.

The bank offices were so wet down that business in them today was impossible, but the vaults and safes were intact.

Among the law offices burned out is that of former-Senator Thomas F. Cassidy on the third floor.

Four tall chimneys fell from the roof, three into the fire and one outward. Bricks from the latter smashed an outside stairway on the Smith block, where four firemen had been standing a few moments previous.

There has been no official statement of loss, but the estimates of principal losers make a total of between $75,000 and $75,000. This is a record for Adams, which has boasted the lowest fire losses in the State.

Correct Way to Treat Skin Diseases.

Both air and water seem to have a bad effect upon skin diseases like Eczema, of which there are many forms. Keeping out the water and air is the first thing to do. By using Cuticura, the well-known remedy for skin diseases, air and water are excluded, because Cuticura contains petrolatum and white wax, and these form a light covering over the sore places upon the skin. Cuticura also contains oil of rose, which has been successfully used many years by the medical profession in the treatment of Eczema and other skin troubles. If your skin is dry, flamed, irritated or sore, get a 50-best of Cuticura of your druggist and try it. The 25c size box contains nearly four times as much as the 10c size and is cheaper to buy.—Advertisement.

Miss Burnett is not only running a farm or ranch in the Malibu Hills region, but she is not afraid to get into overalls whenever she finds that garment convenient for her work.

Speaking of ranching, she says:

"It is a great life. I have found nothing to change my opinion that woman is just as fit as man to participate in the 'Back to Nature' movement."

BROWNSVILLE IN PERIL FROM SHOTS

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., April 8.—Following a shower of bullets into one of the outlying residential sections of Brownsville during a shooting matches between the Carranza trenches in Matamoros and a Villa outpost, Texas plan to again ask for protection from United States military authorities.

Villa artillery officers have arrived at the Villa headquarters outside Matamoros, and cannon are being brought up. Activity in both lines indicated preparations for a fight but all Villa headquarters staff officers said they believed it would be a few days before their arrangements for bombarding Matamoros were complete.

General P. Elias Calles and his 2,500 troops who started from Agua Prieta, Sonora to hunt for Villa troops, found them at Anavacachi pass, twelve miles southeast in Sonora and routed several hundred under General Trujillo, according to advices received here.

HARRY LAUDER
World-famous Scotch Comedian, says:

"Tuxedo, for mildness, purity and fragrance, THE tobacco for me. With my pipe filled with good old TUXEDO, all my troubles go up in smoke. In all my world-wide travels I've yet to find its equal as a slow-burning, cool-tasting, sweet-flavored tobacco. TUXEDO satisfies me completely."

Harry Lauder

Tuxedo Keeps the World in Good Humor

Here is the man whose life work is to make millions of people happy. In pursuing his call, he travels to wide world over. He is a great love of his pipe, and in all sorts of corners of the earth he has tried all sorts of tobaccos.

What is his unqualified statement in regard to Tuxedo? Read it again: "I've yet to find its equal." This is the frank and candid opinion of thousands and thousands of experienced, judicious smokers. Tuxedo is absolutely the best all-around tobacco that modern tobacco science can make.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Uncorking a tin of Tuxedo is like lifting the lid on concentrated sunshine. And then, when you fire up! Well! The first puff's a revelation, the second's a revolution, the third just gets you happy-like! Then you're off—just as sure as you'll see the green grass and hear the birds sing next Spring.

The exclusive "Tuxedo Process" brings out the unsurpassed mildness, delicate fragrance and mellow flavor of the Burley leaf in a way that has never been successfully imitated. At the same time it refines the tobacco until every trace of harshness and "bite" disappears.

DEITRICK IN FIELD AS 1916 GOVERNOR

Former Congressman Frederick S. Deitrick of Cambridge announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor, with prohibition, equal suffrage, a naval militia and the enactment of a law to prevent employers using the strap watch on workmen as his chief planks.

He believes the opponents of prohibition will not hesitate to spend $200,000 in the Fall campaign to continue local option in this State.

"The question of prohibition is now receiving not only national but international attention. When the question came up in Congress last Winter, before voting for prohibition I went into the matter thoroughly, and made up my mind that the best interests of the American people demanded the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors," declares Mr. Deitrick.

Substitute Bill on Red Flag in Senate

The Harvard "red flag" bill which was passed by the House received a jolt when the Senate substituted the "red flag" bill offered by Senator Bean, which permits any religious, charitable or educational organization to fly distinguishing marks with the Secretary of State, and authorizes them to carry any red or black flag with such distinguishing marks in parade.

Murray Plans for Postoffice Changes

BOSTON MOURNS HOPKINSON SMITH

Boston lovers of art and literature feel a deep sense of loss today in the death at his New York home of F. Hopkinson Smith, author, artist and engineer, at the age of seventy seven. He was a member of the Boston Art Club and many engineering and social clubs in this city. Several exhibitions of his paintings have been held here and he also frequently read from his books and lectured in Greater Boston.

Mr. Smith was born in Baltimore of old Virginia stock, and though much of his life was spent in New York, his heart was in the South. Thence came the characters of the best of his stories.

His first Government contract as an engineer was for the ice breaker around the Bridgeport lighthouse. After that came in turn the Block Island breakwaters, the jetties at the mouth of the Connecticut River, the Governors Island sea wall and the foundation of the Statue of Liberty.

It was not until he was forty-five that he began to write. In 1891 "Col. Carter of Cartersville" brought him the widest recognition. His subsequent writings have been "A Day at Laguerre's," "American Illustrators," "A Gentleman Vagabond and Some Others," "Tom Grogan," "Gondola Days," "Venice of Today," "Colonel Carter's Christmas," "At Close Range," "The Wood Fire in No. 3," "The Tides of Barnegat," "The Veiled Lady," "The Romance of an Old-Fashioned Gentleman," "Peter," "Forty Minutes Late," "Kennedy Square," "The Arm Chair at the Inn," "Charcoals of New and Old New York," "In Thackeray's London."

SAVE 5 AT FIRE IN IPSWICH HOTEL

Five men and a woman, roused by fire, early today on the third floor of Hayes' Tavern in Depot square, Ipswich, found their way to safety by the stairway cut off. One man jumped from a third-floor window to an L in the rear. He received a severe shaking up. Twenty-three other guests, on the second floor, escaped with little difficulty.

Sylvester Wentworth, a deaf mute, was not aroused. Robert Foy, remembering he had been left behind, ran and led him down to the street. In the meantime ladders had been raised by the firemen and the other four men and the woman were carried down.

Some men in an adjoining restaurant rushed into the place and tried to subdue the flames with hand extinguishers. The tavern is conducted by Thomas J. Broderick.

Hairs Quickly Vanish After This Treatment

(Hints to Readers)

Science has aided in simplifying the banishing of hairy growths from the face, and according to a beauty specialist, the most effective treatment yet devised consists of applying a delatone paste to the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. When this paste is removed and the skin washed, every trace of hair has vanished. Be sure to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of powdered nemitz from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. The powdered nemitz sinks the dirt right into the pores and dissolves them. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only coats the pores of the skin and leave them ever so much worse. Blackheads are simply invitations of nemitz and water dissolves them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. You can get powdered nemitz at any drug store and if you are troubled with those unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.

Mirandy Gives Her Views on

Movin' to the Rhubarbs

According to Her, Life in the Country Is Not All It's Supposed to Be.

By DOROTHY DIX

"WELLUM," said Mirandy, sympathetically, as she rested a hand on either fat hip, "I hears dat you is gwine to move out to de rhubarbs to live, and when I hears dat I says to myself dat I gets dat de good Lawd she does get de prunin' shears out when he tries to make folks comfortable an' happy, for of dey ain't got no catchenit worries, dey does dey own sufferin' an' hunt up troubles for distractin'.

"Here you is, des as nice an' snug as a bug in a rug in your little flat wid plenty of hot water, an' no spare bed for company, an' all de odder mercies of Gord, an' yit you ain't satisfied, an' you is a packin' up an' leavin' hit an a farm forth into de valley of trials an' tribulations.

"Yassum, I's done lived in de rhubarbs myself. An' I's done got back. Yassum, dis ole nigger don't set up to be no she-Solomon, but she knows when she's been done been, an' done, an' got her dose, an' she knows when she's got enough, an' of you ever gits ole Mirandy again out into one of dem places what ain't neither de town, no de country, but's got none of de pleasures, an' all of de aggrefrettinness of both, den you better send her to de bur house whar dey 'examines folks' hairs for de nitties.

"Now, I ain't got nothin' to say 'gainst de rhubarbs. Dey's all right for dem dat laks dem, dough I must say I's got my opinion of deir tastes. You never knows dat de onliest thing dat makes life worth living is de corner grocery, and de delicatessen shop ontel you puts for miles between you an' a box of matches or a ham sandwidge.

"But dere's two grand things 'bout movin' to de rhubarbs dat fills yo' heart wid surging joy, an' dat makes you feel lak singin' hallelujahs. One of 'em is when you moves out to de rhubarbs, an' de odder one is when you moves back to town, an' de last of dem is mo' gloriouser dan de fust.

"Yassum, I don't know nothin' dat's mo' fun dan movin' out to the rhubarbs. You gits de fever 'bout bein' in de tall end of de Winter, when you is sort of wore out wid de cold, and hatin' shut up in de house, an' begins to think 'bout how nice hit would be to live out whar dey's flowers an' trees instid of bricks, an' de songs of birds instid of de voices of folks a-hollerin' across de airshaft.

THE JOYS OF THE CITY

"Den you begins to figger on how you can raise yo' own vegitables an' chickens so dat it won't cost you nothin' at all to live, an' you kin put all yo' money in de bank, an' git rich quicker dan Mr. Rockinfellah, an' den de furst Sunday dat comes along you goes out to de rhubarbs to see a real estate agent wishes a place on you.

"Den you moves out an' for three months you freezes to death a-waitin' for Spring to come, 'cause nobody ever heard tell of a house in de rhubarbs dat had a way of doin' hit by deyselves. An' you goes brave buyin' things to make a gyarden wid dat don't never raise but one parsley little baid of cabbage. An' you finds out dat you don't need to keep no chickens 'cause yo' neighbors does an' dey scratches up ev'y seed dat you plants de minute it gits in de ground.

"Course when you lives in a city whar dere ain't nothin' but a three-inch wall betwixt you an' de next family, whose names you don't never find out, an' whar folks is so busy tendin' to deir own business dey ain't got time to be nosin' into yo's, you gits so dat you thinks dat neighbors has been stamped out dat lak dem odder pests dat used to ravage 'roun', but dat de doctors is done got rid of. But when you moves out to de rhubarbs you finds out dat you is mistaken, an' dat neighbors is still wid us, a-seekin' whom dey may devour an' makin' trouble in our midst.

"In town when I'm an' Ike have a little family argyment on account of him a-segastuatin' off de straight an' narrow path, an' we busts up a little crockery in settlin' hit, when hit's all over I sweeps up de pieces an' throws 'em in de garbish can, an' dat ends de matter. Dere ain't none of de folks above us, or below us, or on either side of us even poke deir halds out of de window to listen, an' lakwise when we hears a rumpus a-gwine on in anodder flat we don't butt in, for live an' let live is de motto of de city.

"But after we moved to de rhubarbs de fust time me an' Ike had a little set-to we hadn't mo' dan passed a plate an' a cup an' saucer 'cross de neighbors come a rubberin' aroun' an' a wantin' to know what de trouble was, as of a lovin' husban an' wife didn't have a right to deir own private fights widout de interference of no strangers. Furdermo, hit made a scandal in de rhubarbs for de next two weeks all of de neighbors had a perfectly lovely time a visitin' each odder an' a gossipin' 'bout us behind our backs.

"An' dere's anodder grand thing 'bout de rhubarbs. You never does have any idee of just how popular you is nor how yo' friends love you ontel you gits a country place, den you finds out dat all during de summer dey des can't do without seein' you. Dey's des got to come to see yo' darlin' friend, specially on Saturdays an' Sundays.

"Yassum, of you moves to de rhubarbs you can count on runnin' a free boa'din' house from May till October, an' having to sleep on a quilt on de flo' because yo' company is stoppin' way in yo' bed. An' furdermo' you won't never have a chance to swing yo' hammock on de porch, or sit under yo' tree, lak you planned to do in de long summer evenings, because you'll be beddin' over de cook stove a tryin' to hustle up sumthin' to eat for dem uninvited guests dat des thought dey'd give you a happy surprise by droppin in on you.

"Yassum, de fust yeah we goes to de rhubarbs we's gwine crazy 'bout hit. An' Ike gits up by day to wuk in de gyarden, an' he has a specious time Sunday gittin' de grass an' lookin' round to see if de turnips is comin on, an' I brags 'bout how fine hit is to have a real house instid of livin' in a flat no bigger dan a cigar box.

WHITEHAIRS TAKES A BIT.

"By de end of de fust yeah we is kind of en-med down in our enthusiasm, an' by de time Ike's got so he's got wound up lak a watch so dat he tries by de fifteen in de fo'teen forty train, an' I's done found out dat bit's 'bout 'leven times as much work to take care of a house as a flat, an' we figgers out dat de puny little vegetables we raises cost mo' dan de rich hot house grapes in de fancy groceries in town, an' dere ain't never enough real hot water for a bath, an' too many neighbors begin to git on our nerves, why den we begins to talkin' 'bout de city fully an' lovingly of town.

"Den dere comes a day when Ike an' me looks sheepish at each odder an' Ike says I was a noticin' some mighty nice new flats in de city to-day, an' I says I done been already an' looked at 'em, and den we packs up an' beats hit back to town whar hit's nice, an' quiet, an' restful in de midst of fo' million folks an' ain't got time to notice us.

"Yassum, I's done took notice dat de fust year folks moves out to de rhubarbs dey plants flowers in deir front yards. But de next year dey plants a "for sale sign."

"So I reckon you better go along an' git hit over with, for de rhubarb fever is lak de measles. You's got to have hit, an' let hit run hits course, but when you've had hit, you're cured."

"Secret" Business

A lady set her heart on a certain bracelet in a jeweller's window. The price, $150, was $100 more than her husband was willing to pay for her. So she laid a plot with the jeweller. Her husband had to be coaxed into buying it, the jeweller asking $75 and then allowing the husband to beat him down to $50, the wife to pay the balance, $100, out of her own allowance afterwards. Up to a certain point the plot was successful. The husband paid the $50 and went off with the bracelet. But he showed it to someone, saying:

"What do you think of this for a bargain?"

The stranger said:

"Good! I'll give you half as much again for it."

"Done."

So the bracelet changed hands, and he went home highly pleased with himself to tell his wife of his profitable deal. There was nothing for her but to "own up" to the $100 balance had to be paid to the jeweller, and if you happen to meet the lady any time, don't mention "bracelets" unless you want to hear something best left unsaid.

Reclaiming Sunken Treasures

WONDERFUL feats in marine salvage are performed nowadays. The greatest depth from which specie has ever been saved is believed to be about 180 feet. That depth was reached in the famous case of the Spanish steamer Alphonso XII., which was wrecked off Point Gando, Grand Canary, in February, 1895. She had on board a valuable cargo, and ten boxes each containing 10,000 Spanish gold coins, each of the value of nearly five dollars, all newly minted.

Then there is the more recent case of the Oceana, which sank in the English Channel in March, 1912. The work of recovering her specie was undertaken by the Liverpool Salvage Association, and on that occasion their salvage ship, the Ranger, in a few hours' work brought up ten boxes of gold worth about $250,000.

After three months' work specie worth $2,500,000 was recovered at a comparatively low cost.

Speaking of marine salvage generally, it is only within comparatively recent years that the raising of sunken vessels has been accomplished by scientific methods. Before the adoption of the modern appliances that are now used by the salvage experts, vessels that went ashore were left alone unless they could be refloated in an ordinary way.

CLEVER AND DARING

When a ship is wrecked insurance companies send a representative to the scene of the disaster, and a survey of the damage is made. If it is thought the vessel cannot be salved she is sold by the insurance companies to the highest bidder for their benefit, and the insurance is then paid to the owner. If, however, it is thought she can be salved, and it is considered worth while doing so, the "savior of lost ships," as the modern wrecker is named, is called in.

As a rule, he is a clever and daring man who works in secret under the sea, to recover valuable property, or hauls and lifts great ships from rocks and shoals when they have seemed to be as immovable as the rocks themselves. Salvage awards are often handsome and they are not always graduated according to the risk run. The amount depends more on the value of the ship saved.

Sometimes the salvers take on the job on the "no cure no pay" principle, and as the chances are generally against the salvers, the owners are content to offer a big price. In such cases, however, the salvers put unnaturally expect a substantial percentage of the value of the property salved.

There are two recent instances in which enormous sums have been paid by the British Admiralty in salvage. The futile efforts made to raise the battleship Monmouth, which was wrecked on Lundy Island, cost $250,000. The wreck was ultimately sold for $21,000.

THE CASE OF THE CRUISER

The first cost of the ship was $6,500,000, and the value of the stores lost was computed at $250,000.

Then there is the case of the cruiser Gladiator, which was run down and sunk off Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, by the Atlantic liner St. Paul. The cost of salving the cruiser, admittedly one of the greatest engineering feats of modern times, was approximately $250,000, and she was eventually sold for $75,000. The latter sum does not, however, represent the whole of the value of the wreck. All the guns were salved, all the ammunition, all the torpedoes and torpedo equipment, and a good deal of other valuable gear.

There are cases in which ships have been saved, through the ingenuity of the salvers.

Take, for example, the White Star liner Suevic, which was salved and often joined together again after breaking in two. That was, indeed, a marvel in shipping surgery, but it is not the only case of the kind on record.

Some years ago the big tramp steamer Milwaukee, which went ashore on the Aberdeenshire coast, was broken into two halves, as it was impossible to recover the whole ship. The forepart was resting on rocks which had holed her and held her fast. Captain Bachelor, who was in charge of the salvage operations, resolved to blast away the forward portion, and he accordingly divided the ship into two by means of dynamite.

A length of 150 feet was left on the rocks, and the afterpart, with the valuable engines and boiler, was closed up and made watertight.

Then it was hauled off and towed 150 miles to the Tyne, where the shipbuilders took it in hand. They built a new "nose" similar to the one that was left on the rocks, and launched the solitary half alongside a platform twenty-eight feet below the water, the divers drilled the necessary holes in the ship, and then the plate was sent down and fixed at once by patent bolts. The cargo was not disturbed, and the ship was taken back to Liverpool through the Bay of Biscay in variable weather without starting a leak.

"Yes," was the calm reply, "and you came back stupid."

How To Have Red Lips!

The girl with red lips and pink cheeks may be thankful, for both denote health—vigorous, powerful, magnetic health, and while it may be impossible for some to attain owing to modern states or health, yet a vast majority of seemingly healthy young women and men are almost colorless, because of a lack of red blood corpuscles. When the blood is improved and enriched with these red corpuscles, the sanguine fairnesses and a beautiful tint appears on the cheeks, while the lips assume a healthy red color. Many physicians and beauty doctors prescribe three grain hypo-nuclane tablets, which are said to invariably increase the red blood corpuscles after a course of treatment, lasting several months. The nervous system and general health also improve rapidly. The best physicians and anesthesia shops supply this tablet in sealed packages.—Advertisement.

HAIR TONIC For LADIES, MEN and CHILDREN.

Everyone likes to have beautiful hair and since it adds so much to one's appearance, 'tis well to look after this very important requisite of beauty and refinement.

A delightful tonic easily prepared is made by mixing with one pint of soft water a half-ounce of Concentrated Halwood Powder. This amount of liquid will last for a long time and should be rubbed into the scalp thoroughly once or twice a day.

For bleaching or freshening this simple mixture is unexcelled. It acts as a bracing tonic to the hair cells which in turn, renews and stimulates the hair, and keeps it from turning gray and falling out. It makes your scalp feel fine and clean. It is entirely free from oils of any kind and acts as surely in producing beautiful hair that you'll think some good fairy has been to visit you after you have used it several times.—Advertisement.

Garrett P. Serviss Writes on

The Romance of the Red Man

His Origin Is Still Clouded Among the Mysteries of the Forgotten Ages

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

THE recent trouble with the Indians in the Southwest serves to remind us that our continent is the scene of one of the most puzzling racial apparitions that history records. Today in Europe there is a livelier curiosity concerning the American Indian than concerning American inventions. They still read Cooper's "Leatherstocking Tales," which they think are closely related to contemporary life here. The Red Man has left an atmosphere of romance hanging over the Western world which was once his that cannot be blown away. We have conquered him, driven him from his lands, violated his treaties, shaped his character, corralled him on reservations, but we cannot loosen his hold on the imagination of mankind. With the Moors of Spain, he dwells forever in the gilded afternoon of history.

Whence came the Indian? Who were his ancestors? Was he an indigenous product of American soil, or did his forefathers emigrate from another continent, as did ours?

An ethnologist would probably tell you, now, that the place of origin of the American aborigines was Eastern Asia. That is the latest opinion. It may be correct, but, if so, it tells us very little. It goes back beyond the boundaries of certain history, to a far-off, hypothetical time, when there was a natural bridge across the Behring Sea.

STILL A MYSTERY

For our purposes it is better to begin with things as the earliest white settlers found them, and try to work no farther than the relics and monuments left by the red men themselves will carry us. That is not very far; only a few hundred years beyond the date of the Spanish conquests and settlements. The relation of the various native tribes and nations to each other is still a mystery. The Mohawk of New York had never heard of the Aztec of Mexico. Was there any historical connection between them? The Indians found in the Ohio Valley could tell nothing of the builders of the strange burial mounds that scar the face of that country with the forms of huge circles, and ovals, and writhing serpents. But the skeletons in the mounds were found sitting upright, with their weapons and bowls about them, after the burial custom of the Indians that William Penn met. So Philip Freneau, in his poem on "The Indian Burial Ground" (from which Thomas Campbell echoed its most beautiful line to adorn a poem of his own):

"In spite of all the learned have said,
I still my old opinion keep:
The posture that we give the dead
Points out the soul's eternal sleep.

"Not so the ancients of these lands.
The Indian, when from life released,
Again is seated with his friends,
And shares again the joyous feast."

The very lack of history among the Indians made them more interesting and more curious to the white men. Their traditions, such as that of Hiawatha, derive an epic grandeur from their indefiniteness. Whatever the Indians of the Western plains may have become, his Eastern predecessors impressed Europeans with a deep sense of personal gravity and dignity. His nature was full of poetry. His eloquence was as imaginative as that of the Arab. He was a natural orator. No man ever spoke more eloquently than did "Red Jacket," the Iroquois chief, the friend of Washington and Lafayette. He was aware of his power. When he lay dying he said:

"When I am dead it will be noised abroad through the world. They will hear it across the great waters, and say, 'Red Jacket, the great orator, is dead!'"

Traits like this render it impossible not to respect any man who could exhibit them. New England history would lose half its charm if the part played by the red men were eliminated. Witness old Samoset, with his grave and courteous "Welcome Englishmen." Witness King Philip and his woes. Witness, even, the midnight attacks on stockade settlements, and warehouses, the painted countenances, the tomahawks, the scalp-locks, the long, weary marches of captives through endless forests, the hairbreadth escapes, the councilfires, the stake, the running of the gauntlet, the strange adoptions—these things are the red tragic touches which give color to history.

LET US BE CHARITABLE

Let us not be hypocritical. Let us remember that we were the invaders! Major Powell, who knew as much of the nature of the Indian as any white man could learn, said that the primitive savage idea that one's own tribe, or nation, or people, is the best in the world and superior to all others, was deep planted in the Indian. Well then, what was to be expected of him? Are the hands of white men clean in that regard?

Major Powell also called attention to the fact that the Indian tribes, when the white man came here, were in the main, sedentary, and not nomadic. They were living in fixed habitations. Agriculture was general among them, yet not so far developed but that they were compelled to eke out their supplies by hunting. They possessed almost everything in common, which, as Major Powell remarks, encouraged the idle; but, on the other hand, they gave honor and place to the industrious. They did not become nomadic until they had been driven to the Western plains, had been supplied with firearms and had supplied themselves with horses, which they found running wild there.

BEAUTY DOCTOR TELLS SECRET

Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth.

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth, and make it soft and glossy. To half a pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching and scalp diseases and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair.—Advertisement.

SECTARIAN BILLS REJECTED AFTER BITTER HOUSE DEBATE

The "sectarian" amendments to the constitution, to prevent the use of public funds for sectarian purposes, were defeated by the solid Democratic vote of the House, assisted by some of the Republicans.

The vote on the Batchelder amendment, the crux of the fight, was 107 for the bill and 115 against, with seventeen not recorded. A two-thirds vote would have been necessary to pass the bill through the House.

The other two amendments, the "Fitzgerald bill" and the "Cross bill" were also defeated. The Batchelder amendment barred the appropriation of money for all sectarian institutions; the Fitzgerald bill was introduced by the anti-Batchelder faction and sponsored by Martin Lomasney, to bar appropriations for all institutions not under direct control of the State; the Cross bill would bar all educational institutions from aid, as the Fitzgerald bill, but would exempt hospitals.

The debate over the proposed amendments, while carried on with dignity, lacked the most intensely bitter feeling that has ever marked a battle in either branch of the legislature. Charges of religious bigotry, race prejudice and narrow mindedness prevailed, but were few.

The Fitzgerald bill was the first for consideration. It was defeated, 111 to 116. It was urged that if the present State constitution is not specific enough, the real need is to make the prohibition of financial aid general and sweeping. This amendment would have cut off the State aid now given to Technology, Worcester Polytechnic, the Eye and Ear Infirmary and many other hospitals.

The Cross bill was rejected by a two vote. Although the debate was confined to the bill under consideration, the speakers for and against delved into the whole matter of sectarian legislation, with the final fight over the Batchelder amendment always in the objective.

Finishing touch of Boston, chairman of the committee which reported the Batchelder bill. Catheron of Beverly, of the same committee, Greenwood of Everett and Smith of Somerville, bore the brunt of the attack on the Batchelder bill; while Martin Lomasney of Boston, and Messrs. Sherburne and Bowley of Brookline were the central figures in the attack. Although these men were the prominent figures in the debate, the discussion was general, with about thirty taking a part.

The Rev. Roland D. Sawyer of Ware informed the House that it had only to remember that this was the open ing day for the gubernatorial campaign of Grafton D. Cushing—he voted against the bill.

Martin Lomasney in his arraignment of the motives back of Batchelder bill said:

The Batchelder amendment is a direct insult to the Catholics of the State. Let us meet this question fairly without fear or prejudice and like men. We believe that every man should be allowed to worship God as he sees fit. We have no desire to evade the question. You can never settle this religious question until you settle it right.

He said that since 1869 Massachusetts has appropriated $8,350,000 for charitable purposes, while Catholic institutions received of this but $49,- and he declared that most of the institutions that received the bulk of it were as sectarian as the Catholics.

"Since 1869 the State has spent $1,- 614,000 for educational purposes and not one cent has been given to Catholic institutions." He said that when the Carney Hospital received $10,000 in 1902 from the State, it aroused a storm of protest all over the State and that as a result the hospital has not received a cent of State aid since.

SOX BENEFIT BY LOUISVILLE STAY

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 8.—This is the last day of the Red Sox stay here, the team and faithful camp followers moving on to Cincinnati early tomorrow morning.

Secretary Ellis figured at first on sending the delegation to Redland on the night sleeper, but, as it is only a three-hour run, he changed his plans and the party will leave here at 8:17 in the morning, arriving in Cincinnati shortly after 11 o'clock.

The boys are getting some good practice here. The Louisville team is no slouch and Carrigan had to push his gang to the limit and use some good headwork as well to pull out a 3 to 1 victory yesterday.

Three days' practice with a lively, hustling, well fortified club such as Louisville has this year is worth more to the Red Sox than a fortnight spent in Memphis.

Louisville Games Big Help to Sox.

The weather has been grand so far. The games have been close and fought out to the last man and Carrigan's band will derive no end of benefit from the stay here.

The Red Sox put forth two of their best pitchers in the second game yesterday but had to work hard right up to the last out to score a victory.

Shore pitched seven innings. He had great speed and fine control, yet in spite of his grand work, the Colonels put a run over in the sixth and for a time it looked as though they would win by a single tally.

Our boys were hitting the ball off and on, but their clouts came mostly when two men were out.

A three bagger by Speaker in the first inning was wasted when Lewis failed to deliver. Gainer's three triple in the fourth went for naught when Scott failed to bring him home. Again in the sixth Speaker knocked out a two bagger with two down and again Lewis failed in the pinch.

Tutwiler's Batting Is Fading Away to Nothing.

Finally, with the score 1 to 0 against them, the Reds by a grand effort won the game. Middleton, who pitched the first five innings for the Colonels, had retired in favor of Wallie Taylor, the tall right-hander who was with the Red Sox during last season.

Tutwiler, whose batting has faded away to nothing, went to the plate in place of Shore and struck out. Hoonegar relieved Taylor for a time and Janvrin came through with a single to right putting Harry on third. Speaker made his third safe one of the day planting a single to centre. Hoonegar scoring and Janvrin going to third.

Lewis started for the plate but Carrigan called him back and sent Henriksen in to bat for him. Henriksen failed to deliver as he threw his bat on the ground in disgust. But Carrigan was right, as Lewis proved a failure in the pinches before, while Henriksen is batting in great form.

Collins and Mays Will Do the Pitching Today.

"Henry" worked Taylor for a pass, filling the bases. Gainer also secured free transportation, forcing Janvrin across the plate with the second run. Scott hit to Miller and Speaker scored while Gainer was being forced at second. The double play that Rohg, who was running for Henriksen, was nipped trying to score behind the play.

The three runs were enough to win, however, as the Colonels could do nothing with Dutch Leonard, who pitched the last two rounds. It is likely that Collins and Mays will do the pitching for the Sox in today's game.

During the regular Louisville shortstop, turned his ankle in practice yesterday and Strasburg took his place.

Louisville has a catcher named Clemens who will bear watching. President Lannin would do well to keep his eye on this man. If Clemens could do worse than land a first class backstop. Clemens perhaps needs another year's experince, but if is good batting he will be up in the big leagues next season.

Braves Play Richmond On Final Lap of Trip

By JACK CONWAY.

RICHMOND, Va., April 8.—The Braves entered upon the final lap of their series of exhibition games, when they arrived here early this morning for a single tussle with the local International League outfit.

This afternoon's contest will give the champions a severe test. During the past few days Stallings' hired men have had things all their own way, as they have been pitted against regular bush league outfits, which played and acted their part very well.

Conditions will be changed today, however, as Richmond performs in a class AA league and is represented by a fast ball club if we are to believe the testimony of the city mercial, with whom we discussed the dear old local baseball situation early today.

"The Braves may be the champions of the well known Universe but they have not much on our boys," remarked this honorable gentleman as he presented us with one of his best cigars. "Richmond is represented by a slashing ball club," continued our friend with the brass buttons, "and the team is sure to make things mighty interesting for Stallings' band."

Best Thing Braves Saw in Durham Was the Train Out.

The Braves were mighty glad to arrive in this city after a one-day stand in a place which bears the name of Durham. Durham may be a hustling young city, but the best thing that the champions saw there was the first train out.

An ideal day greeted the Braves when they arrived in Durham. The sun was out strong and the temperature was 70 degrees in the shade. As a result of the fine weather a big crowd of "fans" turned out to witness the contest. It was probably the largest crowd which has attended an athletic event in this city since the day of the big wind.

The weather man in this part of the country is a cold-hearted gentleman, and heavy black clouds gathered over the ball field as the contest started. A terrific downpour started after the third session and it was necessary to call the contest with the Braves leading by a score of 6 to 1.

The management of the Boston outfit then went to get its share of the gate receipts which were at least $300. It is easy to imagine the surprise of Boss Stallings when he was informed that the Durham club had decided to appropriate all of the money taken in at the gate and use it to defray the expenses of some bush league contest which is going to be held here on Friday and to which the holders of rain checks will be admitted.

The expense of this special game will probably amount to $25 at the most, which proves that the Durham baseball management is in a class by itself when it comes to getting the coin and then holding on to it with the grip of a drowning man.

It cost the Braves close to $200 to make the trip to Durham, but this fact was evidently overlooked by the management of that ball club. The champions will visit Durham again next year, we don't think. We are of the opinion that the other big league clubs will give Durham a wide berth, when they are informed of the fact of philanthropists who reside in the tobacco town.

Tyler Is Fast Getting Into Good Condition.

Gene Cocreham was doing the honors in the box for the Braves when the cloud-burst prevented yesterday's ball game from being finished. The elongated one had been touched up for the two hits which netted one run. He also gave a couple of bases on balls.

The champions were going along smoothly when hostilities were called off. They had accumulated two runs in the opening session on hits by Moran and Evers, an error and an infield out. Sherwood Magee also got a safe hit, the fence buster driving a single to left field in the third frame.

Stallings had planned to use George Tyler against Durham but he changed his plans at the last minute. Tyler is fast getting into condition and he expects to be going at top speed after the team has enjoyed a little more warm weather.

If Tyler warms up today he will probably be used against Richmond, otherwise Luque or Hughes will enjoy an opportunity to do a little sharp shooting from the centre of the diamond.

Ensign Cottrell is still with the Braves. He will journey North with the club and will wait for orders from Manager Bill Donovan of the Yankees. Cottrell, of course, will join the Yankees before the opening of the American League season.

JOSHUA CRANE IS TENNIS FAVORITE

MATCHES TOE Y.

C. S. Derby vs. J. A. L. Blake (a. m.).

Joshua Crane vs. C. S. Cutting (p. m.).

The finals will be reached in the national amateur court tennis championship play at the Tennis and Racquet Club today.

C. S. Derby, A. L. Blake and Joshua Crane of Boston and C. S. Cutting of New York are the remaining contestants. The former pair will meet this morning, while the latter doubles will clash this afternoon. The winners engage in the finals, and the victors in that contest will attempt to wrest the title from Jay Gould.

Joshua Crane is conceded the best chance of the remaining four. Crane is showing great form, although he is not extending himself in the preliminaries. He defeated D. P. Rhodes in the second round, 6—3, 6—2, 6—3. Derby won from Wightman of the B. A. A. and Cutting downed C. T. Russell. Blake got into the semi-finals through default.

Magee Threatens to Resign from Federals

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8.—As the Brooklyns are hurrying to Brooklyn Artie Hofman declares that he will leave the squad at Cincinnati and go to his home in Akron, O. He will remain there until he is summoned to Brooklyn by Robert B. Ward.

"Such action by Robert B. Ward," Magee says, "will cause me to resign as manager of the club."

Cub Head Would Give McConnell to 'Feds'

CHICAGO, April 8.—Charles H Thompson, president of the Chicago National League ball club, intimated he was willing to let the Chicago Federals have the services of George McConnell, pitcher, if the Nationals can get back the money they have invested in him.

"The Rabbit's" Column By Walter J. Maranville SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

RICHMOND, Va., April 8.—Every once in a while some misguided individual questions the honesty of baseball. When a person does such a thing, I go up in the air, figuratively speaking, without the loss of a single second's time. Whenever a world's series goes five or six games there are a class of people who will assert that the contests were "fixed" in order to have the title battles go along for a few extra days and, by so doing, bring a little more money into the box office. It is but natural for almost everybody to desire to accumulate wealth, but there is not a ball player or baseball magnate who would even think of throwing a world's series game.

I am going to tell my readers a little story which took place at the world's series last Fall which has never before been published. The Braves had won three straight games from the Athletics and we only needed another contest to win the world's championship. It was the afternoon of the fourth game and we were gathered together in the clubhouse in order to receive our final instructions from Boss Stallings. Suddenly the door to our meeting room opened and President Gaffney entered. He looked tired as a result of the suspense of the closing days of the International League pennant fight and the terrific strain of the world's series.

Gaffney was given the floor. He did not waste any time in preliminaries and, getting right down to hard facts, said:

"Boys, I wish to compliment you for the splendid showing which you have made in the series so far. Your playing has startled the sporting world. We who have been close to you know that you had the ability to come through, but the public did not. The people underestimated your ability, but I now feel that they realize that Boston is represented by a wonderful baseball team in the National League.

* * *

"You play the Athletics in the fourth game of the series today. You have already won three contests and if you win today the title battles will be over. If the series ends in four games, it will mean a loss of thousands of dollars in profits to me. But it is my wish and hope that it does terminate today. It has been one of the biggest ambitions of my life to be the owner of a world's championship baseball club, and I believe that you will make it possible for my wish to be gratified. I am also desirous of having you prove to those persons who doubt the honesty of baseball that the game is on the level and that even the chance of making thousands of dollars cannot induce us to throw a single contest. Now, boys, go out and win."

* * *

It was an earnest talk. It proved that President Gaffney is a real man. The fact that the address was made in our clubhouse put new life into the entire combination as there are not many owners of baseball clubs who will enter the dressing rooms of their players. We were convinced that the boss was with us, and so how could we help but win?

* * *

When the battle was fought and won, President Gaffney was the first person to enter the clubhouse and congratulate us. I have never seen a man as happy as he was that day. He acted and looked like a schoolboy on a holiday and shook the hand of every player on the club and pounded us upon our backs. I was as overjoyed as he was and, taking all things into consideration, we had a pretty merry time of it for over half an hour.

10,000 TO SEE SOCCER MATCH

Because they were forced out of the National Cup series by a 1 to 0 score in Pawtucket a few weeks ago by the J. & P. Coats' eleven, the members of the Fore River team, and over 100 of their followers, are planning to make the trip to New Bedford Saturday afternoon and root hard for the Brooklyn Celtics, from the City of Churches, to trounce the Thread men from Rhode Island.

New Bedford, the mecca of soccer football in this country, is sure to be thronged with the elite of soccerdom before and after the game.

It is thought that if the weather is pleasant that at least 10,000 "fans" from all over New England and New York will be at the old New England League ball park to see the two eleven's battle for the championship of the East.

FREE TOURS TO BIG FAIRS AND $1,250 FOR READERS OF BOSTON AMERICAN

The Contest Editor announces today two things of very great importance to every candidate in the AMERICAN'S California Expositions Tour Contest.

First, and most important, get ready for a flying start on the "Series E" coupons, the date of which will appear in next Sunday's AMERICAN, April 11th.

Secondly, wind up your "Series A" collection in a blaze of glory by collecting every possible coupon.

The last "Series A" coupon will appear in the Evening AMERICAN next Saturday, April 10th. One less week from that date is allowed in which to collect, sort and turn in all "Series A" coupons, according to the rules of the contest.

Every contestant should read and re-read the Contest Rules and become thoroughly familiar with the votegiving plan for the remainder of the coupling in coupons. The conditions are simple, but long experience has taught the Contest Editor that how few people carefully read the rules in any competition. As it is most important, why not do it—now.

It is very easy to roll up a substantial vote total. In fact, the only way to notify your friends that you're in the competition—that you're in to win—and not to wait time to read the Daily and Sunday AMERICAN and save the coupons.

Every busy reader some evening paper—and nearly everybody reads the Evening and Sunday AMERICAN—so it does not cost your friends anything to help you.

So your path should be easy since you start off with confidence that you are offering the best in the newspaper market.

The Daily AMERICAN coupon will count for ONE vote and the Sunday AMERICAN coupon count for TEN votes. There will be fifteen coupons in "Series A," fifteen coupons in "Series B," etc., etc.

By turning in a full set of consecutively numbered coupons in a series, you get, outside votes value for each and every coupon set turned in.

That's all there is to it. No red tape, nothing intricate or involved, no subscriptions or money to collect, nothing at all to do, in fact, but to save and collect the vote coupons.

The majority of people now in this country have one ambition, and that is to go to California—you don't have to be told that—you can hear it anywhere, in the subway—at social gatherings and on the street.

California is a garden of delights—ranches, its orchards, its balmy climate and inspiring scenery make it the beauty spot of America.

The America's contest for the trips to this remarkable country will last until July 31st, 1915. Every man, woman and child in Greater Boston, or anyone, over sixteen years of age, residing in New England.

The trips De Luxe to be exposition will be won by the twenty-five contestants turning in the greatest number of votes—the trip that will last three weeks and not only embrace a four-day stop at the exposition in San Francisco and a day at the fair at San Diego, but the most remarkable scenery of the entire American continent.

They will embrace a visit to Chicago, to Denver, to Los Angeles, to Albuquerque, to Del Monte, to Salt Lake City, to the two exposition cities and to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

And, as an additional inducement, the American offers $1,250 in gold coin for spending money to the twenty-five lucky contestants.

This, in brief, is merely an outline of the rewards to be made in this splendid competition.

The trips are planned for the early Summer, when it becomes a delight to travel in comfort. The conditions are simple, but long experience has taught the Contest Editor how few people carefully read the rules in any competition. As it is most important, why not do it—now.

THE VOTES—Every day during the contest, beginning Saturday, March 27, 1915, and ending Saturday, July 2, 1915, a coupon will appear in the Daily and Sunday AMERICAN, good for 1,000 votes.

The Daily American coupon will count ONE vote, and the Sunday American coupon will count TEN votes.

The contest will be divided into 7 periods, and the coupons, during each period, will be numbered in series as follows:

1st period — Series A No. 1 to A No. 15—appearing March 27 to April 10
2d period — Series B No. 1 to B No. 15—appearing April 11 to April 25
3d period — Series C No. 1 to C No. 15—appearing April 26 to May 10
4th period — Series D No. 1 to D No. 15—appearing May 11 to May 25

7th period — Series G No. 1 to G No. 7—appearing June 25 to July 3

DOUBLE VOTES will be given for each coupon in SERIES returned in within one week after the appearance of the last coupon in each SERIES. For example, a set of "Series A" coupons numbered from A No. 1 to A No. 15" inclusive will count as 66 votes, if received in one package as directed below, when the last coupon, "Series A No. 15," appears in the paper. Any coupons numbered will count as only 25 votes (their face value). But in any event all the coupons must be turned in within the set time limit. For example, ALL (A) coupons received after this date and time will be refused; ALL (A) coupons received after this date and time will be refused; a similar rule applies to the other coupon series.

Votes sent in daily during each period will count only for their face value. Votes cannot be transferred from one period to another after the close of same by the American.

The value of coupons will remain unchanged throughout the entire contest.

HOW TO SEND YOTE COUPONS—At the end of each contest period, collect all votes of that particular series, then put all your "Series A No. 1" coupons together, first or last, then in numerical order, and paste on a piece of paper showing the number of "Series A, No. 1" coupons contained in that package. Do the same with "Series A No. 2," and so on up to and including "Series A No. 15," the last one of that series. Then wrap them all up in a package, affix a stamp, on the outside of the bundle, your name and address and the number of consecutive sets said to be contained inside.

WHERE TO SEND THE VOTES—Bring them to the Expositions Contest Headquarters at No. 5 Winthrop square (just around the corner from the American's main office at Summer and Devonshire streets); or, if sent by mail, send to American Expositions Contest, P. O. Box 3047, Boston, Mass.

THE WINNERS—The 25 candidates who receive the largest number of votes will be awarded the 25 prizes. In the event of total votes for any contestant, active or who is being balloted for, prizes will be given to each without regard to rank.

SPECIAL NOTICE—The American will not be responsible for the receipt of any packages unless sent by registered mail.

No persons can win more than one prize.

The American reserves the right to amend these rules and conditions from time to time, if it may seem necessary, in order to protect all contestants from any possible misunderstanding which may arise. The Contest Editor will decide all disputed questions carefully and in good faith, and his decisions will be final and conclusive.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were higher at the opening and for a few minutes trading was active. In New York most of the interest was confined to specialties. Bethlehem Steel, which was largely offered at concessions yesterday, was in demand and advanced more than three points. Among other issues to make large gains were United States Rubber, American Cotton Oil, Rock Island and General Motors.

At the end of half an hour in New York Bethlehem Steel was up 3¼, General Electric 1½, and General Motors 1¾. Amalgamated, New Haven and Steel were fractionally higher, while Reading had advanced ⅞. Union Pacific was off ⅛. Price changes for the usually prominent stocks were of small.

Rises to show fractional gains in Boston included Alaska Gold, Bell of Superior, Copper Range, Granby, Greene-Cananea and North Butte.

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD.

The government crop statistics were calculated to promote confidence in the prosperity of this country this year as much as anything imaginable. The outlook at present is for another gigantic harvest and with high prices for all agricultural products guaranteed by the war in Europe. Some experts believe this year's crop will exceed for $500,000,000 more than the record-breaking one of 1914. Farmers will have plenty of money to spend after liquidating indebtedness, and this will mean busier manufacturing plants of all kinds, besides more trade for merchants. There is nothing which contributes more to prosperity than big crops.

ATCHISON LEADINGS.

The railroad situation has greatly changed within a decade or two. It is not many years since Eastern roads almost had a monopoly of the commerce of the public and were regarded as the safest investments. Now many Western lines rank in the esteem of investors with any in the country and some of the old Eastern ones, which for a generation or more had been bought on the "safety first" principle, are yielding more regret than profit. Atchison is a road which is in a large business way. Its report as to loadings for the week ended Friday last showed 21,177 cars on the roads, an increase of 1,597 over the figures for the corresponding week in 1914.

WHAT THE U. S. OWES.

While the greatest nations of Europe are waging a war which is slaughtering or maiming the flower of their manhood and annihilating their financial resources, the United States is getting along very comfortably in spite of reduced revenues and disappointment as to the amount collectable under the 10th Amendment. At the end of March this year the gross debt of the United States totalled $2,888,0657 and its net debt was $1,136,234,810.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

The mildness of the past winter is indicated by the fact that the coal year just ended by March, 1915, anthracite coal shipments decrease 466,846 tons, compared with the preceding twelve months.

The Westinghouse Electric Company expects to get a large order for electrical equipment for the Panama Canal.

Magnesia Fine for Acid Stomach

Quickly Stops Sourness, Acidity, Belching, Bloating, Stomach Pains, Etc., and Makes Digestion Easy

Most folks who after eating experience a sour burning sensation in the stomach and are belching gas, sticking up or have indigestion, feeling cold is indigestion and take a pepsin pill or a soda mint, or a dose of salts, to help digest the food and push it into the bowels. In most cases these people have what physicians call acid stomach, caused by eating too much heat-making acid which mixes with the food so that it ferments and sours and gives off poisonous gases that inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. You can't digest something to artificially push this sour acid mass into the intestines, you must get rid of it. Instead take as much harm as in the stomach they need a simple antacid that will quickly and harmlessly neutralize the acid in the stomach and let the food contents digest. Then digestion becomes natural and no more gas, sourness, indigestion, loss of heaviness, burning gas, belching, sick, all vanish. Ordinary Bisurated Magnesia will answer, can be obtained at any drug store in excellent for this purpose, but should always be bought in sealed packages to insure purity and full strength, either tablet or powder form. And be sure that it is BISURATED Magnesia—not just plain or citrated magnesia, which are not good for this purpose. One to two teaspoonfuls of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water taken after meals will neutralize all the acid in your stomach and prevent or stop all stomach distress.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Look young! Nobody can tell if you use Grandmother's simple recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also a good tonic, relieving scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is troublesome. Nowadays you simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Advertisement.

RESERVE BANKS PLAN GOLD FUND

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Federal Reserve Board announces that it has reached an understanding with representatives of reserve banks for the creation of a gold fund for use in clearings and settling balances between these banks.

"The plan is based upon the idea of a general gold fund at Washington, to be created by the Federal reserve banks, title to which shall be transferred by one reserve bank to another according as it is necessary to effect transfers of funds between Federal reserve districts," says the board's statement. "The plan is expected to become effective about the middle of May."

It is said that the agreement has been reached on the amount of the gold fund to be created. When it was first considered, a committee of governors and members of the board spoke of $25,000,000 as the amount with which to start. Part of the $25,000,000 was paid in and that sum would be furnished by the Treasury Department, but a recent contribution has been left to the future and the banks alone are expected to contribute.

MOTOR NOTES

By J. C. KERRISON.

At the City Club last evening President G. L. Dodd, of the Pope-Hartford Co. of Boston, entertained at dinner the executive officers, the sales organization and the heads of departments of his company, which is handling the Hudson car for this territory. The affair was most enjoyable and was taken advantage of by the members to discuss in high terms of praise of the work of his company while the new inauguration has come to be one of the strongest motor car concerns in this city.

Mr. Dodd took occasion to compliment Manager H. B. Lucas upon the success of his business, inasmuch as the advances made by the organization have been most unusual. In turn had some very complimentary remarks to make regarding the support which he had received not only from the salesmen and heads of departments but likewise from every man in the organization.

J. P. McAnulty, demonstrating engineer of the Overland plant, will spend a few days in this city as the guest of the affair.

Jack LeCain, who drove in the Vanderbilt Grand Prize and Elgin races, is back in Boston making preparations for his entry in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. He is having a special Stevens-Duryea car built for the event and feels confident that barring accidents he will be a strong factor in the big race.

To Make Money—Study Human Nature

"The Advice of a Successful Banker, to Which May Be Added, "To Succeed in Anything, Study the Same Subject"

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

A former Comptroller of the Treasury, and the present head of a great Middle Western bank, has been giving the citizens of Los Angeles, Cal., excellent advice on the subject of money-making.

This banker rightly takes the ground that everybody ought to make money—enough money, at least, to give them independence, for without independence there can be no real happiness

His words can be summed up in the following paragraphs:

"It is hard to define the ability for making money, but the very fundamental is alertness. The trouble with the vast number of people is that they go about intent on their own purpose and never see anything.

"In the profession of making money, as in other things, the prime essential is knowledge of human nature.

"A man to make money, as to do anything else, must think for himself."

This is very sound advice, and well worth following, whether the purpose of those who follow it is to become future Rockefellers or future Edisons or future Washington Irvings.

Within two weeks two men, both of whom have made independent fortunes, have retired with all the money they want—one at forty, another at fifty.

Both these men specialized on human nature.

The first discovered that it was the nature of employers to prize and reward industry and alertness—to do a great deal for the employes who did a great deal for them.

By sheer ability he rose from an errand boy to the presidency of a big chain of stores in twenty-five years. Now at forty he is going to spend his remaining years in untroubled enjoyment.

The other man owned a small store in a comparatively small town, and did a small business. But he made a careful study of the big men in his community, and of the big men in other communities, and learned that they were pretty much the same—they were all looking for a chance to become bigger men.

That these men were more prominent and more important than he was did not put him in any awe of them.

He found a way for one group of them to unite their capital to very great advantage, and he went and told them about it, exactly as he would have told a clerk how to advance in his particular line.

He had confidence in his scheme, and he made others confident in it. His success, when it was adopted, was immediate.

Had either of these men been content to know as little of his fellow human beings as most men do, he would not have succeeded, despite his alertness.

In every work undertaken by men success is worth attaining.

And success consists in convincing or in pleasing or in serving other men who cannot be convinced or pleased or served satisfactorily by people who do not know them and their ideas and their needs.

Knowledge of human nature—of the hopes and aspirations and moral standards of the people is what makes great leaders in peace and war. Lincoln had it instinctively, and added to it by shrewd observation, and Lincoln was the greatest American success.

Every soldier, statesman, author, painter, actor, must possess it to succeed.

It is instinctive in many cases. It can, however, be cultivated, but only by those who think, and who think mostly of other people, studying them patiently and intelligently.

Years of poring over books cannot bring this knowledge. It must be learned on the streets, at business, in the theatres, at political meetings, wherever men are gathered together, and by continual observation of individuals.

Such knowledge may not result in the gaining of great fortunes, or in the attainment of the highest places that are to be had, but it will bring advancement and promotion, and these are really success.

A Loss to the State

Massachusetts has lost a distinguished citizen in the death of former Governor Curtis Guild. As Governor of the Commonwealth he did many things to her advantage.

He was a liberal Republican. Internally he chafed at the reactionary policies of the standpat element which controlled his party, but did not always control him. He was cordially disliked by these standpatters.

His message to the Legislature concerning the acquisition by the New Haven Railroad of trolley lines in Massachusetts had the true ring of an independent and right thinking public man. He vitalized the supreme bench by appointing, against considerable political opposition, Judge Rugg, who has since become its Chief Justice and has been a sound and progressive judge.

His appointment of Alonzo Weed to the Gas and Electric Light Commission was a public service of incalculable benefit to those who use gas and electricity in this State. Mr. Weed converted that commission into a useful public body, which immediately gained, and has since retained, public confidence in marked contrast to most regulating public service commissions.

As a private citizen, Curtis Guild opposed with a bold and vigorous speech the devastations of New Haven Railroad monopoly in New England. He struck at the heart of the conspiracy, naming J. Pierpont Morgan as the arch-conspirator and painting him in true colors.

His last act of statesmanship, within a few days of his death, was his participation in the important movement to enlighten our people concerning the necessity of better preparations for the national defence.

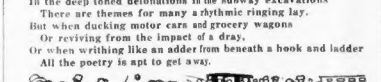
More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

Lost Chords

THERE'S an epic in the truckman's tart remarks,
There's a lyric in the trolley's clanging bell,
There is pure poetic glamour in the sharp staccato hammer
Of the riveters at work upon the "L";
There's a sonnet in the popping of the gats
When a gunman is pursuing or pursued—
But alas! you seek it vainly, for when it is heard most plainly
You are seldom in a literary mood.

THERE is music in the rattle and the roar
Of a building being wrecked across the way.
In the deep toned detonations in the subway excavations
There are themes for many a rhythmic ringing lay.
But when ducking motor cars and grocery wagons
Or reviving from the impact of a dray,
Or when writhing like an adder from beneath a hook and ladder
All the poetry is apt to get away.



Maybe Both Will Learn Something, Some Day

Great Britain seems to think she ought to enjoy the same privileges on the high seas that the gang fighters enjoy in the streets of New York.

Mixed Blessings

Fortunately Secretary Garrison is going to continue in the Cabinet. Unfortunately so is Secretary Bryan.

Hardly a Slogan

A Detroit newspaper printed an editorial entitled "Dirty Detroit." The title did not give any particular offence, but it has not yet been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce as a watchword.

Practical Christianity

If twenty-two-ounce loaves of bread can now be purchased for five cents in Philadelphia, that $51,000 given to Billy Sunday has already proved an excellent investment.

Good Job

If the Carpathians is where the carp come from we hope the Russians take 'em and keep 'em.

We Knew It

Now that we know that Oliver Osborne had fourteen suits of clothes, seventeen pairs of trousers, fifty pairs of gloves and four walking sticks, the suspicion we have been harboring for a long time that he was going to break into vaudeville seems verified.

Inch by Inch We Fight Life's Battles

By G. VERE TYLER

EVERYBODY knows what a little thing an inch is, but few realize what a big thing it is. Few stop to contemplate what the difference in an inch really means. A tailor knows when an inch too much or too little has cost him anywhere from $18 to $35. A dressmaker knows when an inch too little of the goods on hand may cause her, after an arduous day of planning, to abandon a chosen pattern for another. An engineer knows when his train, with its carload of human freight, has gone one inch off the track over a precipice.

Some men have minds one inch off the judgment track, and that causes all their schemes, gigantic and brilliant as they may be, to run amuck.

Every calamity and every success in life is controlled by inches.

Men rarely go to their doom in an hour; it is inch by inch.

All successes are won inch by inch.

An inch by inch the waters of life creep in to engulf us, so inch by inch the obstacles that impede our progress move aside.

The man who attempts to leap over the inches to reach his goal, gets there with a broken leg.

The word inch has a forbidding sound. It is because it holds us in its clutches. We cannot ignore an inch, or it immediately thwarts our intentions. Every simple thing is performed by man as the saying goes, "within an inch of his life."

All diseases move inch by inch. Before the scarlet fever breaks out in a child, it has been developing inch by inch for nine days.

A man built a magnificent structure the other day at an enormous expense, and when it was proven that he had encroached a few inches in the land of another man the law accorded the other man the right to pull it down.

The oversleeping of an inch in the proprieties of life brands us. If a girl in a theatre laughs an inch too loud, the audience looks around and puts upon her the stamp of "not a lady."

Art is controlled by inches. A picture an inch too high or too low, and the entire artistic effect of the wall upon which it hangs is lost.

Deportment is measured by inches, and woe unto the man who fails to observe its dictates. Even in the deepest grief, if one goes too far in his wailings, the grief is questioned, if not ridiculed, and sympathy turned aside. An inch too far in the poet's flight to imagination's realms and the world laughs at his best efforts.

A single inch in any direction may throw away a man's chances for the world's approval, and yet some men do not even consider the yards.

It is the man who considers life within an inch of every detail presented who succeeds.

In-Shoots

A man can be enthusiastic over baseball and not be a lunatic, but he will invite a lot of daffy contemporaries.

An old adage says that no bride should bake her own wedding cake. It might be added that no groom should eat it.

A lot of fellows who boast that they read good books talk as though the most of their knowledge had been gained from "movie" billboards.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Blames Parents for Boldness of Girls

Too Many Young Women Who Throw Themselves in Way of Men—Mothers and Fathers Should Make Daughters Understand Dangers of Life

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

THERE have been lately many instances of men and women leading double lives. One of the most recent cases is that of a man who seems to make a business of the purchase of young girls for "affinity wives" and mothers of his children. The majority of these cases indicate a knowledge on the part of the young women of the situation they were to occupy. The man possessed large wealth and the girls were seemingly satisfied to accept the equivocal position he gave them and to resign their self-respect in order to live free from financial worry.

Talk with almost any well-to-do man dwelling in our cities today and he will tell you that men are pursued by young girls and girls not so young to quite an great an extent as men themselves pursue. An unpleasant case came before the courts a year or two ago. A prominent man had taken two young shop girls "joy-riding," and an accident had occurred, as frequently does in such cases, and one of the girls was crippled for life. Testimony in the case revealed the fact that these young working girls were strangers to the man, but had hailed him as he stepped into his automobile and asked him to give them a ride. The man, who was married and occupied a respectable position, showed a lack of fine instincts and high ideals in consenting. But the young girls also indicated a lamentable lack of decency in making the request.

The boldness of young girls of all classes today is one of the signs of the times. It is a sign of the failure of mothers and fathers to properly train their children. To merely telling a young girl to be modest and well-behaved toward the opposite sex is not enough. There must be an intimate comradeship between the parents and their daughters, and young girls must be made to understand the vulgarity as well as the danger and immorality which lie in a departure from modesty of deportment.

It is folly and worse than folly to attempt to guard the young in these days from all knowledge of the evil which exists in the world by ignoring these topics. It is impossible for any girl who has ears and eyes to remain ignorant of the fact of sex attraction and of its many allurements and dangers. But this danger often proves a greater incentive than warning to the romantic young mind.

If every young girl who is dazzled with the thought of being able to wear beautiful gowns and ride in motor cars could look beyond the early youth of women who have sold themselves for such luxuries they would recoil, shocked and terrified with the thought that such a situation could ever have seemed attractive. Public disgrace, private shame and crime are some of the penalties which result from a life of sex license.

Away off in Greece centuries ago a beautiful young girl named Lais sold herself for the pleasures and benefits which wealth could give her. For a few years she reigned a queen among men. Then her beauty faded, her popularity waned and she became a forlorn old outcast.

Lais When Old

Lais when old and all her beauty gone,
Lais, the erstwhile courted pleasure queen,
Walked homeless through Corinth. One mocked her mien,
One tossed her coins; she took them and passed on.

Down by the harbor sloped a terraced lawn.
Where fountains played; she paused to view the scene.
A marble palace stood in bowers of green.
'Twas here of old she revelled till the dawn.

Through yonder portico her lovers came—
Hero and statesman, athlete, merchant, sage;
They flung her whole world's treasures at her feet
To buy her favor and exalt her shame.

* * * * * * * *

She spat upon her dole of coins in rage
And faded like a phantom down the street.

An American Lais, who left her home in a quiet country town to enjoy the luxuries and gayeties of New York and Paris with a married man of wealth, came home to die—scarcely three years later—a shattered wreck of a woman. The asylums for the insane, the sanitariums for victims of alcohol and drugs, the Potter's Field and the almhouses—these are the goals of many girls who have sold themselves for a few years of gay, idle pleasure.

It does not pay.

THE LOVERS

By JANE M'LEAN

IN a garden old and overgrown,
Sought by no curious passerby,
There are two lovers made of stone,
Keeping tryst 'neath an open sky.

The grass grows high about their feet,
But weather-beaten still they stand,
Roughened by rain and wind and sleet,
Yet face to face and hand in hand.

And through the glancing light Spring rain
They glimmer whitely through the trees,
Two lovers in whose hearts remain
Deathless and hallowed memories.
